a time of hard work and enjoyment is that time a person spends in drama improvising scenes, writing plays, memorizing lines, research reports, learning basics of acting, designing costumes and scenery, producing plays, working together, creating entertainment-- all of these proceed the time of crowning glory-- the senior play

amidst the hours of endless study that stimulate and enrich them, the students still find time to enjoy the thrill of an exciting game, the thrill of anticipation while preparing for the Homecoming Coronation, the thrill of exploring the prospects of their future

in his time
a student enjoys a meal prepared by the competent cafeteria staff, votes for the leaders of the student body, enjoys the sight of a finely-arranged library display case

a student learns much about time:

he learns, in his world history class,
how man has lived in times past,

he learns that there are trying times
such as having locker trouble, he learns how man lives today by observing one of his many activities-talent night

exam-time is very important to Ragsdale students much time is spent preparing for an exam in hopes that there will be a successful outcome

all work and no play will make any student dull after exams are over, everyone enjoys celebrating an end-of-semester party

just before spring arrives
the juniors receive their class rings the arrival of the rings satisfies at last the anticipation that has been built up through many hours of work and play at Ragsdale, in this time students wear their rings proudly they will value their rings even more in times to come to recall all the wonderful times at Ragsdale second semester highlights are as numerous as they are varied but basketball season and prom time are two that always stand out Ragsdale teams played 3-A ball for the first time of course the Prom--the climax of Ragsdale's social activities--will always stimulate fond memories of our times at Ragsdale

the times at R.H.S. are permeated with variety and diversions from our daily routine
the auditorium provides a place where students are bound together
by moments of fellowship, entertainment, learning, and enlightment through student organizations students exemplify service, honor, teamwork, and achievement.

in the afternoon when the last bell rings, the halls fill, lockers slam
and suddenly the parking lot empties a sad and happy time when a person receives his diploma, separates from his old friends,
and as a door swings shut on a part of his life that can never be relived,
he embarks on a new adventure

IN MEMORIAM

Richard Harold Morris

February 4, 1949 - July 14, 1966

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life; and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

WE DEDICATE . . .

We, the senior class, feel privileged to have the honor of dedicating the 1967 ECHO to one of the most faithful members of the Ragsdale faculty. Known for her desire to assist students in their search for knowledge, she is never too busy to offer help and encouragement wherever it is needed.

Whether it's helping students with their scholastic problems, sponsoring club activities, or preparing special treats for her classes, she is willing to give unstintingly of her time. Through her guidance many Ragsdale students have had the opportunity to broaden their horizons beyond national boundaries and to learn the language, the habits and the customs of another country.

This, the 1967 ECHO, is proudly dedicated to Miss Estelle Brown, teacher of French par excellence.

CURRICULUM

Rhonda Misenheimer and Marty Pinnix, co-editors of the Tiger Prowl, plan a new issue of the paper with the help of the newspaper staff.

ENGLISH

Whether they are preparing for a test on SILAS MARNER, learning about outstanding American authors, writing term papers, or listening to recordings of MACBETH, students find their English courses varied and challenging.

As electives, juniors and seniors may take a course in Journalism, Speech, or Dramatics.

Doug Perry illustrates a point for the speech class.

Debbie Hamner, Jane Tew, Steve Whicker and Bobby Korstad admire an Elizabethan theater made for a senior English class project.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

French students study hard as they struggle to master French vocabularies, desperately try to memorize French verbs, and strive to improve their accents by listening to French pronunciation records. Many find the course so interesting, they pursue the course for three years.

Lab is often used to learn French pronunciation.

From the study of Latin much knowledge is to be gained other than that of the conjugation of verbs and declensions of nouns. Students study ancient Roman and Greek history and learn roots for many of our English words. Two years of Latin are offered for those who wish to take it.

Latin students prepare a bulletin board.

Students find new course in Spanish worthwhile.

Spanish is being taught for the first time this year at Ragsdale. In both the lab and classroom, students learn the basic mechanics of this grammar and rapidity of speech.

Hank Warden and Mike Shook look over geometric figures.

Students at Ragsdale may choose from a variety of math courses. They are required to complete two courses in mathematics before they can graduate. Two years of Algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and advanced math are offered to students preparing for college. Students entering the field of business will find business math very helpful. Courses in general and consumer math are offered to the students who are pursuing a general course.

MATHEMATICS

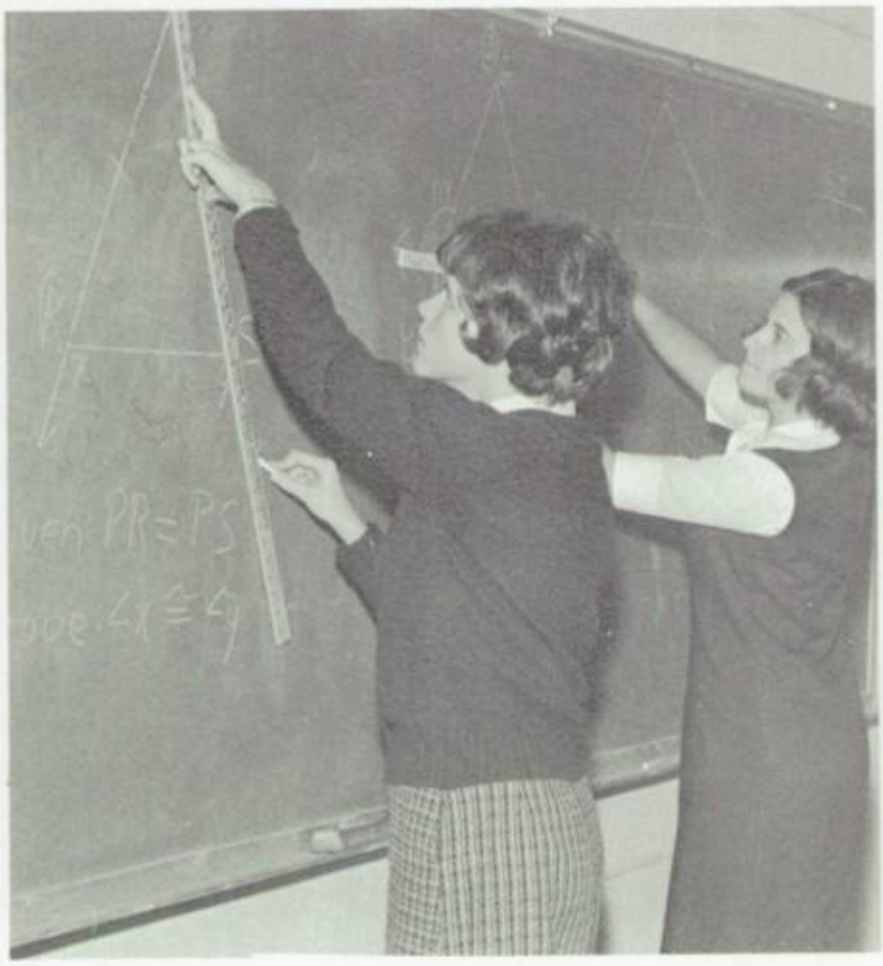
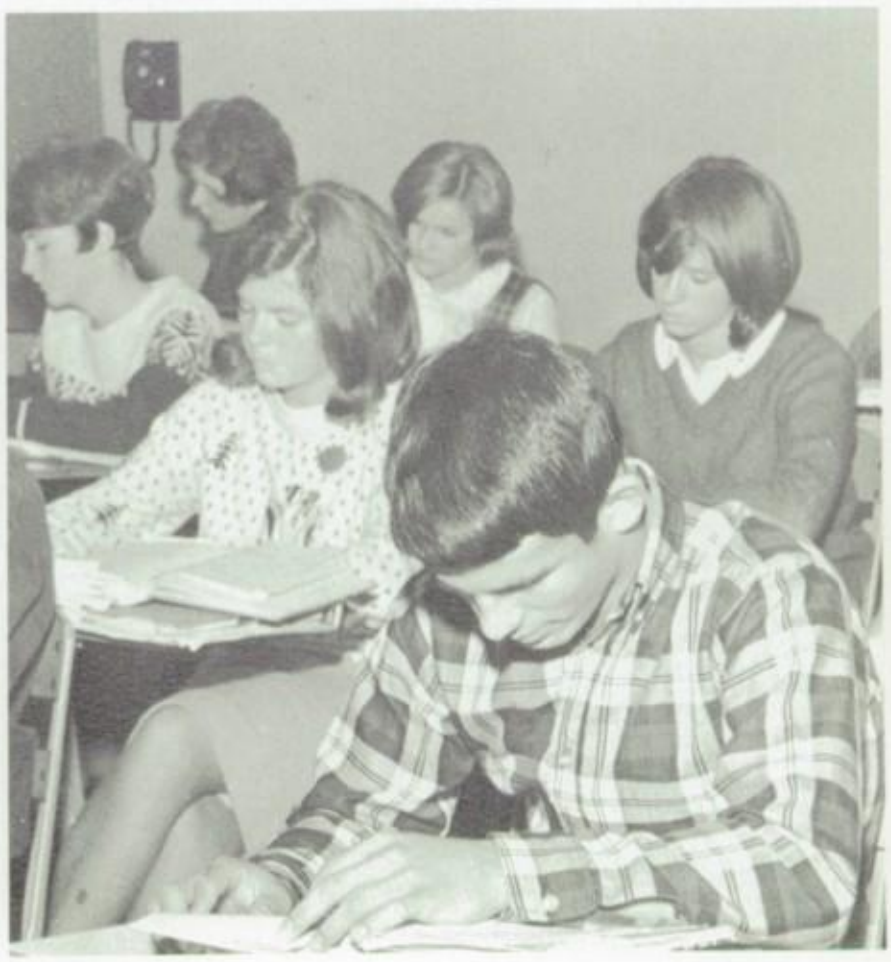
Adele Tew and Susan Gregory prepare to discuss a problem.



Students study diligently for a math exam.



Chemistry students participate in lab experiments.

Howard Wilson, Sue Johnson, Mary Patterson, and Tom Case study bulletin board in biology.

SCIENCE

Although only two units in science are required for graduation, many students take advantage of the variety of courses offered by the science department. Biology, required for sophomores, is very challenging. Chemistry with its equations and experiments, attracts many students. General science, physics, and advanced biology are other electives offered to those who wish to pursue science in the future.

Teig Marco, Scott Osborne, and Tommy Malpass dissect a dogfish in advanced biology.

SOCIAL STUDIES

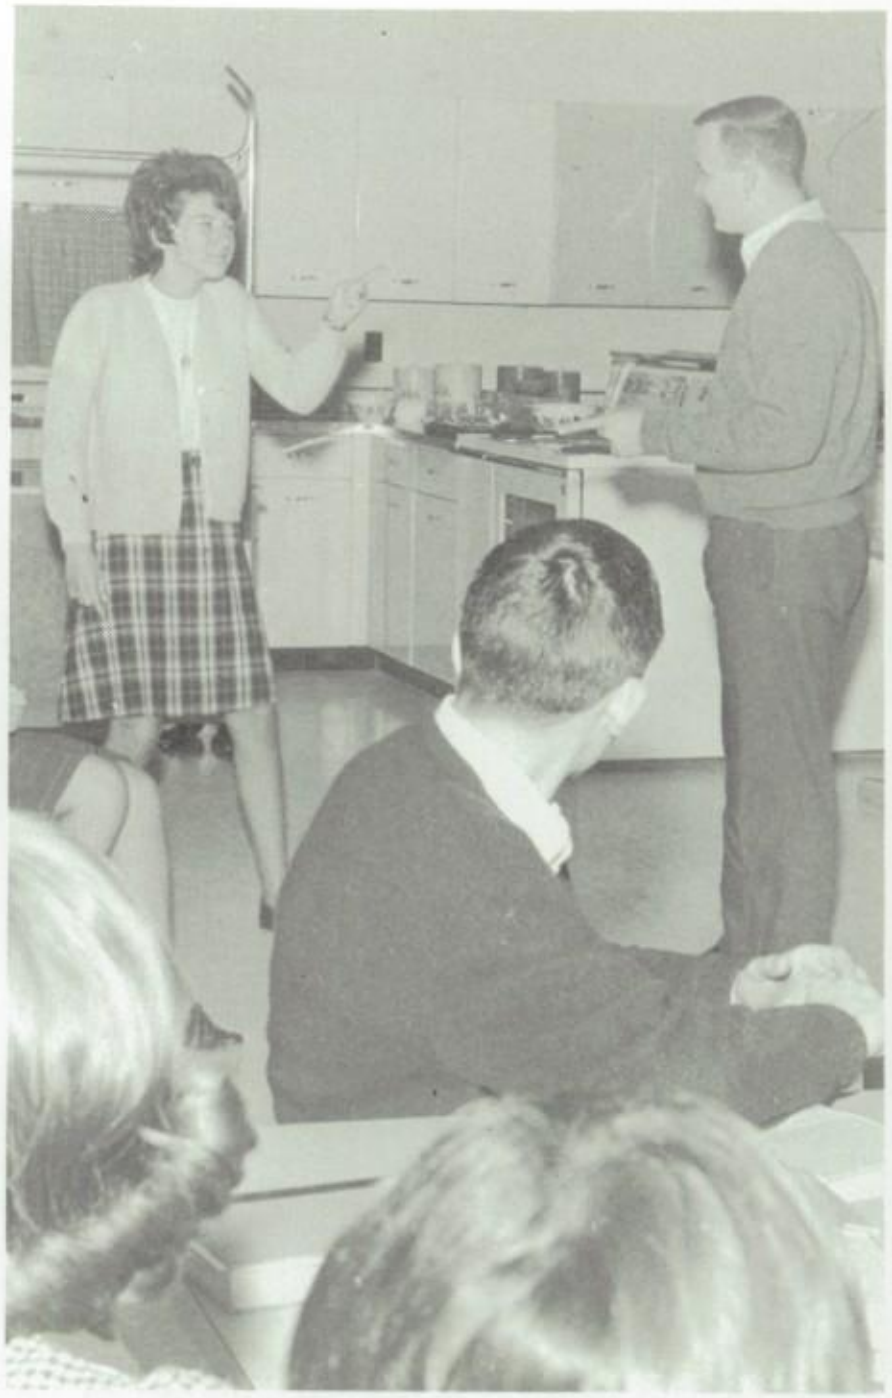
The social studies classes offer much valuable information about the past and present history of our country and world. A few of the courses offered in this department are civics, world history, geography, and United States History. Students who are interested in delving more deeply in history are able to study advanced government, U. S. & World Affairs, and economics and sociology.

Cathy Bocholis, Marilyn Hinkle, and Barbara Howard look over U. S. History bulletin board.

History students work hard on assignments.

Gayle Parker, Sheila Southern, and Barbara McClain clean up after a cooking lesson.



Vickie Robertson and David Brazelle present a skit for family living class.

Dianne Wells sews busily while Joyce Powell, Frances Cook, and Alice Curtis prepare to cut out a garment.

HOME ECONOMICS

Home economics is offered to all sophomore, junior, and senior girls. After a girl has finished this course she will be well prepared to be a good housewife and mother, as well as a seamstress and good grooming expert.

Home economics II is offered girls who wish to study deeper into phases of home economics.

Popular with the seniors is Family Living. In this course a student learns how to face problems that arise within a family, and problems which students face as teenagers as well as those with which they will be confronted as adults.

MUSIC

The music department at Ragsdale is improving every year. Students wishing to play musical instruments may play in the band.

Choral music is offered for students who have a good voice and like to sing. The chorus enters many musical festivals and contests. The student body also enjoys the many programs the chorus provides.

A music theory course is being taught at Ragsdale for the first time. The techniques of music are taught in this course.

Music theory class learns fundamentals of reading music.

The band practices for Christmas program.

The chorus practices for a concert.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Vuncannan teaches shorthand.

Many students find typing enjoyable.

Ragsdale's commercial department was very efficient. Many of the courses offered are beneficial to students now and in the future: Typing I and II, Shorthand I and II, Personal Typing and Notehand, Office Practice, Bookkeeping, and Business Law.

Judy Stewart and Mary Kanoy put up D.E. bulletin board.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Distributive Education, part of the vocational training program of the school, combines classroom instruction with on-the-job training in a selling occupation. It is intended to develop skilled workers in the field of distribution.

The second year students attend school half a day and then go to work in an area store.

Rita Bentley and Mike Thompson work hard on art projects.

ART

Ragsdale's art courses are designed not only for those who have special talents at art, but also for average students who desire a better understanding and appreciation of art. All students are taught how to draw in pen, ink, and pencil, paint in water colors, block-print, carve in wax and plaster, and sculpture. Talented students are encouraged to participate in the Scholastic Art Program.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical Education is required of all sophomores, but many upperclassmen sign up for the advanced course in physical education. This course - both boys and girls - emphasizes participation, sportsmanship, and teamwork.

Girls stay in shape by doing exercises.

Boys learn fundamentals of basketball.

PRACTICAL ARTS

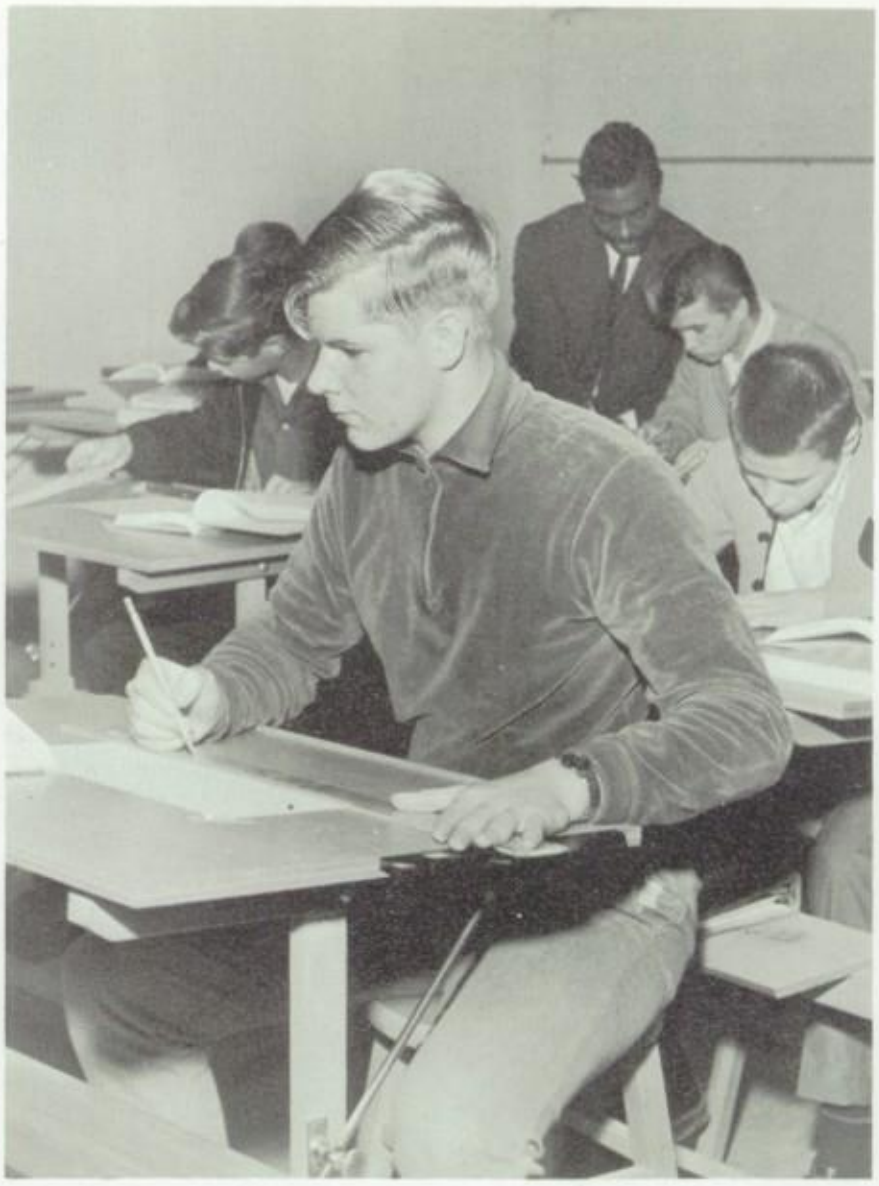
Most students think that practical arts is a course in which the pupils learn by doing how to build various articles. This is certainly a part of the course, but actually, the students draft elaborate plans on paper before they ever begin construction of a project.

Practical Arts teaches students to coordinate the efforts of mind and body.

Practical Arts class gives students experience in manual training.



Mr. Robertson helps practical arts students learn the fine points of drafting.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Although driver training is not a required course and no credit is given for successfully completing it, almost all students take it. Before the student ever gets behind the wheel of the driver education car, he receives a minimum of thirty hours of classroom instruction. The aim, and the result, of driver training is to produce competent, skillful drivers.

Coach Klasterman prepares to take Betty Morrison and Diane Wall for a lesson in driver training.

Mrs. Lane checks with office on important matters.

Seniors discuss future plans with Mrs. Lane.

This year, Ragsdale was very fortunate to welcome to the guidance staff, Mrs. Nanci Motsinger. The students automatically became very attached to her. Everyone always enjoys their varied discussions with her and with Mrs. Lane. Both of the counselors seek to understand each student's personality, needs, and problems. These dependable people are always willing to help whenever they can.

GUIDANCE COUNSELING

Mrs. Motsinger aids students with their problems.

Ronnie Coleman enjoys talking with Mrs. Motsinger.

SEATED: Campbell, Gardner, Cole, Roberts. STANDING: Dean, Brown, Manager; Raper, Townsend.

CAFETERIA STAFF

The cafeteria staff works hard mornings preparing meals for the Ragsdale students.

Students hurry through the lunch line.

This year the cafeteria staff was very fortunate to be under the direction of Mrs. Alice Brown. The staff has performed an excellent job of planning and preparing well-balanced, delicious meals.

Students look forward to lunch for a time to relax.

1967 ECHO STAFF

CO EDITORS: Carol Kimrey and Judy McCray.
ADVISORS: Mrs. Fogleman and Mrs. Lane

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Darrell Bailey and Jim Vance.
ART EDITOR: Jana Owen.

Much time and deliberation accompanied by hand work went into the production of the 1967 ECHO. The new yearbook staff was confronted with the difficult task of producing another annual comparable to previous ones. The industrious members of the staff began work early in the spring with assistance from personnel of Delmar Printing Company and advisors Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Fogleman.

In the summer Business Manager, Betty Sossaman, launched the selling of advertising. Preliminary planning by Co-Editors Carol Kimrey and Judy McCray was followed by drawing layout, taking pictures and writing copy. The four deadlines on which yearbook material was submitted kept the staff under constant pressure. As usual, there were many late hours. As each page took form, however, the staff felt its reward in the completion of this—the story of Ragsdale 1966-1967.

The TIGER PROWL

Co-Editors, Marty Pinnix and Ronda Misenheimer, discuss ideas for the next issue with Mrs. Phillips, the TIGER PROWL advisor.

Many aspiring junior and senior journalists of Ragsdale compose the staff of the TIGER PROWL. They must have a "B" average in English and be willing to work. Each spring after the new editors are elected, rising juniors and seniors are given a chance to become members of the staff for the following year.

Each member of the staff is required to study one year journalism. In this class they learn the mechanics of good writing, the make-up of a page, and all the other phases of journalism. Staff members must also sell ads to help pay for the paper.

Many long hours are spent at the printer's, putting together the paper, which comes out every two weeks. It is a very rewarding feeling to the staff members to see what they have created and produced.

Mary Ann Osborne has a form all her own for foul shooting.

The Ragsdale girls' basketball team has come a long way in the past two years. Hard work, team play, and the desire to win have been key factors in the girls' success. Their 16-0 record gives evidence to this improvement. Miss Flynn, the girls' coach, is another reason the girls have a winning team; for she has emphasized good sportsmanship and hustle throughout the year. It is a combination of all these factors that makes this year's team one of the best ever.

Civitans and Civinettes win 1st place float.

Homecoming 1966 was a dazzling experience for all. Preceding Homecoming day, a powderpuff football game was played and a powderpuff homecoming court was presented. The bonfire boosted the spirits of the Tigers to win the game Friday night. The Coronation and parade highlighted the activities of the day, and the Homecoming court was again presented Friday night at half-time along with the winning floats.

Nikki Grelier, Ragsdale's foreign exchange student, is a native of Paris, France. She came to Jamestown as a part of the Christian Youth Exchange Program. The Jamestown Methodist Youth Fellowship is sponsoring her and she lives with the Bow Stafford's.

Nikki is a member of the senior class at Ragsdale and a member of various clubs. She has participated in many school activities such as the Powder Puff game and helping with the Senior Play. Nikki's warm smile and friendly manner have won her many friends at Ragsdale. We will always remember Nikki and the many things we learned from her about France.

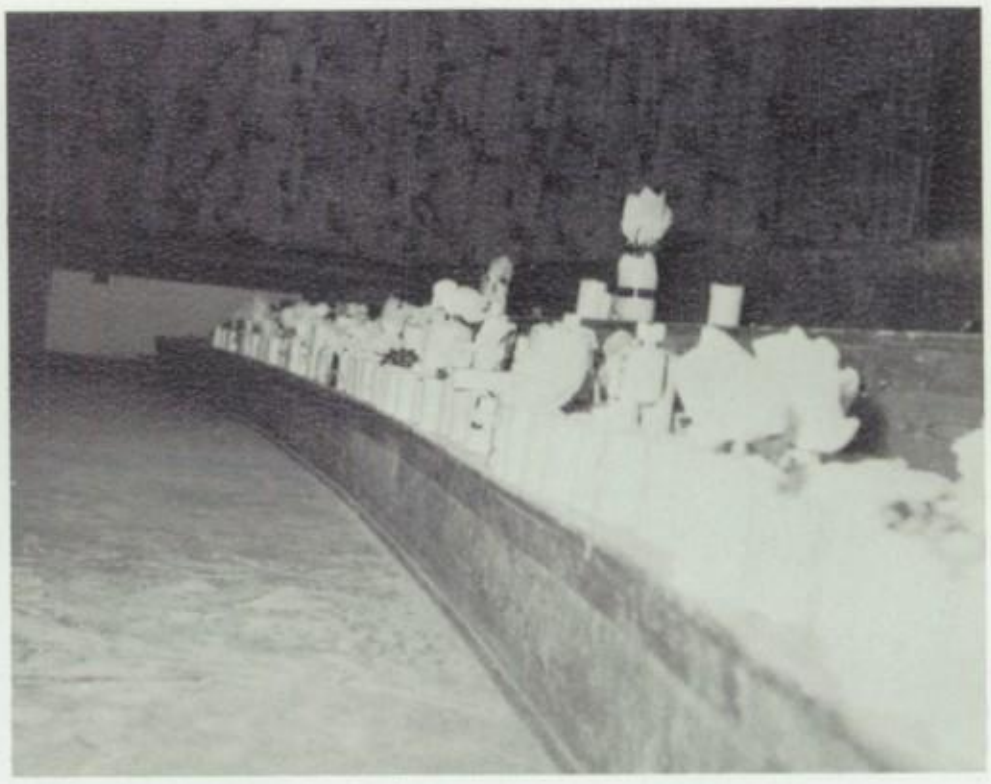
A scene taken from "Last Stop" given by the Dramatics class.



Canned foods for needy families are collected each year at Christmas.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hallberg, the dramatics class presented the "Last Stop". It was about six teenagers who had gone out, raced, and wrecked on Christmas Eve. They were trying to get back home and came across a hotel called "Last Stop". It was a very weird place. Soon the teenagers realized they would never return home again. This play was not only enjoyed by the student body, but a lesson was taught.

Students enjoy Christmas program given by the Glee Club.

Christmas Spirit at R.H.S.

The band gives their usual Christmas program for the student body.

Along with the play, to get everyone into the Christmas spirit, the music department gave its usual performance. The band and chorus had a combined program. Each presented several Christmas numbers and then presented some numbers together. Following this, the student body placed their White Christmas on the stage.

Fans show enthusiasm at the game.

A variety of activities

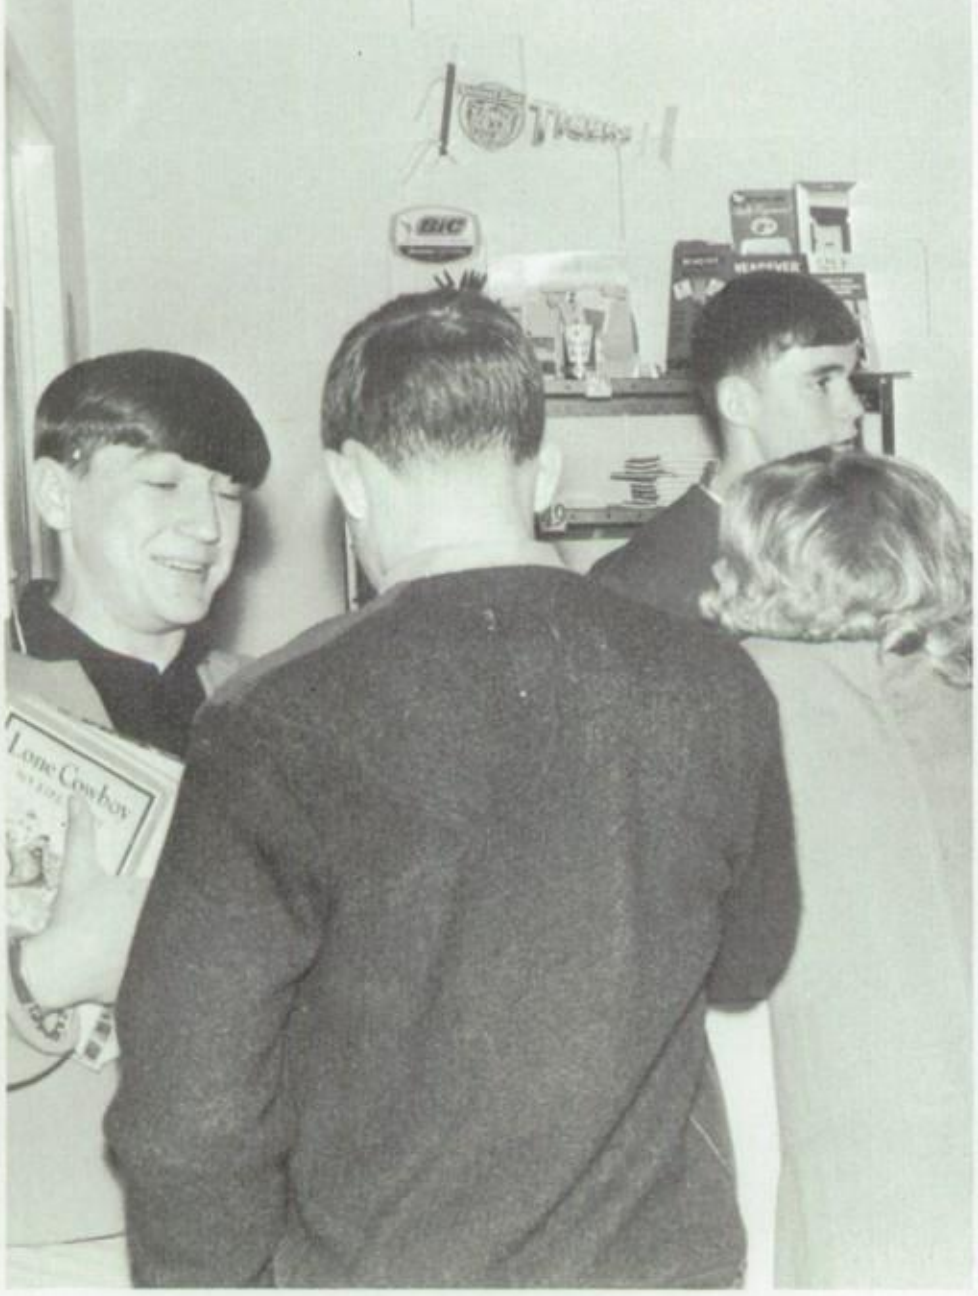
Beta Club members take turns working in the Beta shop each week.



Through these activities, students gained knowledge by excelling in their work, enjoyed fellowship in the friendly association of classmates, learned to work with people, and develop a sincere concern for helping other people. As they experienced their successes and failures together, students learned to share and accept life.

Lunch is the favorite time of the day for many students.

Band loads up to go to Myrtle Beach for the Sun Fun Festival.

at RAGSDALE

Fans spark school activities by the zest and pep of their support, by the pure exuberance which they display. Light moments of relaxation offer a welcome break in the day. Study, motivated by a desire to learn, broadened the receptive student mind while academic honors crowned scholastic achievement.

Kathy Garber, Diane Hunt, Judy McCray, and Carol Griffith, run through the first scene where they appear as four American girls.

Directors Mrs. Neel and Mrs. Hallberg and student director Dottie Flynn cast parts.

This year the senior class presented "The Mouse That Roared", a two act play. Co-Directors were Mrs. Hallberg and Mrs. Neel with Dottie Flynn as assistant.

The play was centered around a small country called Grand Fenwick which had an economic problem. Jana Owen portrayed Gloriana, the sovereign of Grand Fenwick. With the help of Count Mountjoy (Danny Voelkert), Mr. Benter (Steve Whicker), and Tully Bascom (Ricky Mitchell), Gloriana solves their problem. They declare war on the United States. A rather comical battle takes place in New York City. Four Americans are captured, one being Professor Kokintz (Doug Perry), and taken back to Grand Fenwick. The professor invented a bomb and that is taken back also.

The United States sends Mr. Beston (Ken Smith) to Grand Fenwick to get the Americans and the bomb. There is an agreement between the countries and Grand Fenwick returnes the prisoners and the bomb.

Everyone enjoyed this funny and enchanting play the seniors presented.

Students discuss plans for conventions.

The National Forensic League make plans to attend a speech festival.

Prom and conventions highlight Spring

Spring brought warm breezes and flowers but, best of all, it brought the Junior-Senior prom. On May 7, girls in lovely dresses were escorted to the beautifully decorated King's Inn. There we danced to the music of the High Point Central Dance Band. The prom was a great success and one of the major events of the year.

The decorations of King's Inn creates an enchantment.

Dreamy music, soft lights, gay conversation and laughter—these are the elements that make the Junior-Senior prom the high light of the year.

Students attend Governor's School

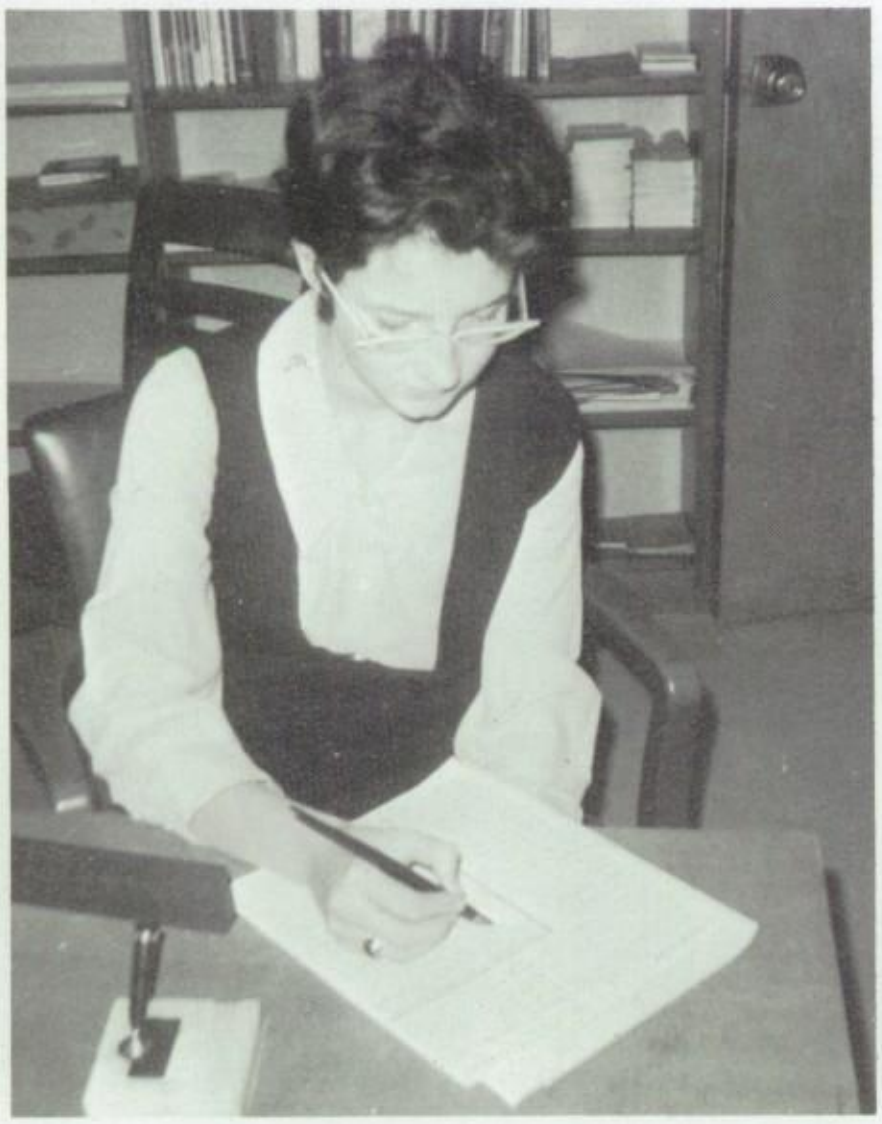
Kathy High



The Governor's School of North Carolina is a coeducational summer school for academically gifted and artistically talented high school students. Held on the campus of Salem College, the eight week session is designed to enrich the students knowledge and skills in his major field of interest. The school has also pioneered in plotting the courses of two areas academically uncharted for the high school level – philosophy and psychology.

The student at the Governor's School learns many new facts in his major area of interest. But more valuable to the student than facts are the intangible attitudes and ambitions he acquires. A true desire to learn and the ability to learn independently are qualities that will serve him well throughout his life.

Three students from Ragsdale were very fortunate in being chosen to attend the Governor's School. They were Kathy High, Becky Wade and Mary Louise Reynolds.

The year of 1966-1967 has been a very busy one for the Junior Class and has brought to each member a feeling of accomplishment. There have been the joys and sorrows of sports events, the tension of the National Merit and PSAT, the magic of the junior-senior prom, and the thrill of receiving class rings. Recollections of club conventions, U. S. History classes, and hard work in the courtyard have all added up to making this a memorable year IN OUR TIME.

CLASS OF '67

Jana Owens, secretary; Ronald Cox, president; John Best, treasurer; Tommy Malpass, vice President.

The seniors have finally reached the end of twelve active, happy, fun-filled years "In Our Time." If seniors were to retrace their footsteps, they would relive such activities as the excitement of pep rallies, practicing for the senior play, that unforgettable Homecoming and something which made the greatest impression of all—the Junior-Senior Prom.

As the year comes to a close, each senior realizes that a very special part of his life is over. Soon each senior will take a separate road in life. He will glance back at the past, realizing that he has added a strong chapter in the story of his Alma Mater.

As graduation approaches, each senior is faced with a mixture of joy, regret, and solemnity. Joy because, to each senior, graduation is but the threshold to a promising future; regret because of the breaking up of the close ties of friendships which have developed through the years; solemnity because they must face the uncertainty of the future.
